TITLE IX

Policies, Reporting, and Resources

www.titleix.arizona.edu

The University of Arizona is committed to providing a safe and positive living, learning, and working environment. The University has a responsibility to ensure that all students, staff, faculty, and visitors can enjoy the benefits and opportunities the University has to offer in an environment free from discrimination on the basis of sex, including sexual assault and sexual harassment, stalking, rape, acquaintance rape, domestic violence, and/or dating violence.

The University utilizes a variety of approaches to prevent and redress sex discrimination. We realize that individual community members who are affected in some way by sex discrimination may benefit from many sources of support and assistance. It is important that all members of our community know where to turn if they have a concern, need assistance or support, or would like to file a complaint. We have compiled a collection of resources and information to assist members of the University community.

POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

In addition to Title IX, the University of Arizona's Student Code of Conduct along with its Nondiscrimination and Anti-harassment Policy prohibit sex discrimination, sexual harassment, and sexual violence of any kind. Retaliation against anyone who makes a complaint, or who participates in any complaint-related process, is not tolerated.

The Process

The University of Arizona has equitable procedures in place to promptly, thoroughly and fairly address concerns and complaints of harassment or discrimination while being mindful of the rights and unique needs of all parties and of due process. Both parties have an opportunity to meet (separately) with a conduct administrator to present their perspectives, provide witnesses or information, to bring an advisor to the meeting, to ask questions and seek clarification.

After a review of the information and facts of a complaint, the conduct administrator will decide whether it is more likely than not that a violation of code or policy took place and, if appropriate, will issue sanctions. All parties will receive appropriate options for review or appeal.

Interim actions can be taken before any decisions on the alleged conduct are made. These are short-term, remedial measures to ensure the safety of all individuals involved and the fairness of the complaint process. These are not decisions about responsibility. They can include no-contact orders, changes to on-campus housing, or changes to class or activity schedules and, in some cases, interim suspension.

REPORTING OPTIONS

Anyone who has witnessed, knows about, or has experienced sexual harassment or other sex discrimination (including sexual misconduct) is encouraged to seek help and report the concerns — the sooner, the better. There are a number of ways to report concerns and to get needed information, assistance, and resources.

Retaliation of any kind against individuals who report concerns or who participate in an investigative process is prohibited.
